9. Liabilities subordinated to the claims of general creditors:

As at and during the years ended September 30, 2022, the Company had no liabilities which were subordinated to the claims of general creditors.

10. Contingencies

The Company is subject to reviews and inspections by regulatory authorities. Reviews can result in the imposition of sanctions for regulatory violations, ranging from non-monetary censures to fines and, in serious cases, temporary or permanent suspension from conducting business, or limitations on certain business activities.

The Company cannot predict if, how or when such investigations will be resolved or what the eventual settlement, fine, penalty or other relief, if any, may be.

A large number of factors contribute to this inherent unpredictability: the investigation is still ongoing; the damages sought are unspecified, unsupported or uncertain; the Company has not engaged in settlement discussions; discovery is not complete; and there are significant facts in dispute.

The Company may contest liability and/or the amount of damages, as appropriate, in each pending matter. Over the last several years, the level of litigation and investigatory activity (both formal and informal) by government and self-regulatory agencies has increased significantly in the financial services industry. There can be no assurance that material losses will not be incurred from claims that have not yet been asserted or are not yet determined to be material.

Subject to the foregoing, the Company believes, after consultation with legal counsel, that the outcome of the ongoing regulatory investigations will not have a material adverse effect on the Company's financial condition. The Company has not recorded a provision for ongoing regulatory investigations as it is not considered probable that an outflow of economic benefits will be required and a reliable estimate of the obligation, if any, cannot be made at this time.

11. Subsequent events:

Management has evaluated subsequent events through November 23, 2022, the date the financial statements were available to be issued. There were no subsequent events requiring adjustments to, or disclosures in, the financial statements.
